Given Seven Days

On the evening of the 12th, while Mr Charles Geistlinger, accompanied by his wife, was motoring home along the Base line, his new Essex coach was in a collision with an auto heading for the City. The accident occurred about three miles east of Spruce Grove. Mr Geistlinger claims he was keeping well over to his side of the road when he was rammed. The accident was reported to the Police, and Corp. Moses responded. On investigation, the fault was found to be with the driver of the attacking car, Jac Schultz, of Edmonton, car No. 52861, accompanied by two passengers. Jac was suspected of being intoxicated, put under arrest, and brought to the City, where it was found Jac's nose had been injured when it struck the steering wheel. On Friday he appeared before Magistrate McLeod, was convicted of being intoxicated while in charge of a motor vehicle, and sent to the Fort for seven days, and his driver's license suspended for three months. Jac had been returning home from a visit with his brother Chris, at Golden, Spire.

The Big Hockey Game

Stony Plain has now been placed on the Sports map, for this winter at least, thanks to the energetic President Pidgeon, of hockey fame. Not for many years has the Stony Plain athletes had the pleasure of traveling in the fast company that they now find themselves in.

As stated last week, the Seniors have entered Edmonton Intermediate League. The opening game of the season was played here on Saturday night with the Varsity team, and a fairly good crowd of fans was present, but there was still room for a few more rooters.

Stony's team showed lack of practice, and also of combination play, compared with the play of the visitors; but, at that, made a good showing after they had struck their stride. The play, at the end of the first period, showed 4 to 1 against the home team; end of 2d period 4 to 3 against Stony. Final score: Varsity 6, Stony 4.

When the home team has had more practice they should not have any trouble defeating any of the visiting teams. For Stony, Clark and McKee did some good playing.

Peace On Earth, Goodwill Toward Men

"Interdependence," a monthly review published by the League of Nations Society, in Canada, has rendered a real service to Canada, and incidentally to the cause of world peace, by printing in its current issue the complete text of the magnificently inspiring speech delivered by the Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, at the state dinner tendered him by the Government of Canada, in the House of Commons at Ottawa. Mr. MacDonald's fine message to the Canadian people, containing such a sincere and impassioned plea for international understanding and a will to peace, was listened to over the radio by hundreds of thousands of people in this country and the United States. That national service is now strengthened by the reprint of the full text of Mr. MacDonald's speech, thus enabling people to read this message again and ponder over it at their leisure.

This same issue of "Interdependence," which, by the way, is distributed to members of the League of Nations Society throughout Canada, or can be had for the trifling subscription price of one dollar a year, also contains the text of the address given by Roch Pinard, the 18-year-old Quebec boy, who won the International Oratorical Contest, held at Washington, D.C., before President Hoover, in October last. The subject of Roch Pinard's address was "Canada Among the Nations," and, like Premier MacDonald's speech, is a well worthy of the consideration of the people of this country. It will intensify a Canadian's pride in, and love for his Dominion. Equally important, and essential to that pride and love, it will further impress upon all readers the absolute necessity for the cultivation of understanding and goodwill among all classes of the Canadian population, based on knowledge, which alone can render ineffective those periodical appeals to passion and prejudice through which designing persons seek to sway the emotions of our people. Mutual understanding, mutual goodwill, mutual appreciation of each other's good qualities, must exist as the basis of peace and cordiality of relations among the various races which make up Canada's cosmopolitan population.

Domestic peace in Canada, it is hardly necessary to say, is the first requirement if this Dominion is to successfully play the role of peace protagonist among all the nations, and an effective member of the League of Nations. From the inception of the League of Nations, Canada has been one of its most influential members. The influence of this Dominion in the councils of the nations is far greater than its population and wealth and world power would accord to it. That influence radiates from the successes already achieved by Canada in solving for itself some of the most vexatious problems now troubling other countries. That influence can be retained and further extended to the extent only that Canadians themselves put into every day practice those rules of conduct which the maintenance of peace among all nations Canada should be observed.

Canada stands for world peace. This fact is recognized by all nations. It is also recognized that as a people we have no ulterior motives in our membership in the League of Nations; that our presence there is solely from a desire to serve others and further the cause of international goodwill and world peace. As a people we unhesitatingly and uncompromisingly bore our burden when the Canadian nation was forced upon mankind. We gave in unstinted measure, and we are paying our own bills without asking help from anybody. This is recognized and appreciated by other nations, and our influence is correspondingly great. So, too, is our responsibility. We must, therefore, first of all be true to ourselves and to those ideals we advocate for adoption by all other peoples and nations.

Finally, "Interdependence" notes with satisfaction the offer of Premier Mackenzie King to provide suitable copies of the Briand-Kellogg pact outlawing war to Provincial Departments of Education which will undertake to distribute them to the schools, and to churches which will give it a place in their edifies. Unquestionably the future peace of the world depends on the determination in the minds of the people, consequently through the schools and churches can the next generation be best reached. The pact, to which Canada's signature is attached, outlawing war as an instrument of national policy, should have a place on the walls of every church and school throughout this broad Dominion. It is a message of "Peace on earth, goodwill toward men."

Congratulates Winner

Herman Trell Is Pleased That Red Spring Reward Wheat Takes Highest Honors

"Nobody is more pleased than I am over the fact that Joseph Smith, of Wolf Creek, Alberta, has won the world's wheat championship at Chicago," declared Herman Trell, of Wembley, Peace River, former holder of the championship. "I am particularly pleased that Red Spring Reward was the winning wheat."

It was recently by Mr. Trell that the district where the championship wheat was grown was not considered previously as a particularly good wheat country. The success attained by Mr. Smith, he added, showed that varieties of grain can be adapted for any conditions in Alberta and are bound to prove successful if the experiments are made by persons with the qualifications of the 1929 champion.

Clothing and Safety

Industrial Institutions Enforcing Rules Against Ragged Work Suits

Workmen on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad will henceforth wear form-fitting clothing. There will be no more ragged sleeves, dangling tatters on shirts, or flapping shoe soles. The matter of neatness enters into the decision to enforce these regulations, but the greater factor is that of safety.

It is only within the last few years that the danger of loose and ragged clothing Men working about moving machinery are in constant peril, if anything is dangerous from their clothing which is likely to become caught in a belt or flywheel. The constantly increasing number of accidents from this cause finally taught, it is lesson, and more and more factories and other industrial institutions are enforcing rules of safe dressing.

As a matter of fact, a large part of safety in industry has to do with clothing.

The total number of trees sent to farmers in the Prairie Provinces was 8,975,050, 4,360,174 from the Indian Head nursery, and 4,614,876 from the Sutherland nursery. The total number of applicants who received trees was 7,452.

General Conditions Fundamentally Sound

Sir Charles Gordon, President, at Annual Meeting of Bank of Montreal, Draws Attention to Great Strides Made by Canada During Recent Years.

Sir Charles Gordon's presidential address at the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal will exert a far-reaching influence upon economic conditions in Canada.

Reviewing the business situation in Canada, Sir Charles referred to the unbroken expansion of the first ten months of the year and extending back over a five-year period, the most marked advance being in the field of mining, and he said that the Canadian banks took no special advantage of the high rates offered in New York; their money was fully employed in the Dominion "and every legitimate part of this country was taken care of at much lower rates than prevailed in the United States."

There is good ground for general business confidence in Sir Charles Gordon's statement, which alone is apparent in any of the basic commodities of Canadian commerce. He spoke frankly of the considerable influences as the reduction in the crop and its slow movement, and the delay in the railway connection. On the other hand, mining and industrial development in the West, and branch-line railway construction, as beneficial influences, building has been at its peak; markets are being opened for Canada's products, electric power, and while immigration shows a decline there is also a reduction in the cost of transportation. Coming to the trade situation in Canada, Sir Charles said in part: "Fundamental conditions are sound, and there is no reason for apprehension as to the ultimate future of Canada."

General Manager's Address
Mr. H. B. Mackenzie, the general manager, surveyed the bank's operations of the past year, and made a pregnant diagnosis of actual economic conditions.

Mackenzie's analysis of the salient features of the balance sheet is not only convincing of a healthy growth in the volume of the bank's business and of its strong financial position, but it is testimony also of a determination to continue the same sound and energetic management that is traditional of the institution. "Our customers," he said, "are in a position to demand more of their banks, and we must be prepared to meet this demand. We have, as always, been our chief care, and our needs have been fully supplied. We have recently been declining numerous applications, 'large' small, for loans against 'good collateral' but to be used for 'other than business purposes, generally the purchase of securities. These applications have become so numerous that they threatened to 'encroach upon the money needed to 'finance the country's business.'"

There is in the proceedings at the Bank of Montreal meeting abundant proof that credit is sound. "Business," Mr. Mackenzie said, "will be somewhat quiet while we are getting 'back to realities, but the realities in both countries—Canada and the United States—afford firm basis for a healthy optimism."

Making Survey For Gibraltar Tunnel

Work Likely To Involve Large Political As Well As Engineering Features

The work of examining the rock strata of the Straits of Gibraltar for a tunnel between Europe and Africa is under way, but while the attention of the world is focused on its structural problems, the tunnel also has involved political and engineering features.

During the World War the captain general at Cadiz, who now is Premier Primo de Rivera, made a speech suggesting that Spain join the war on the side of the allies and that in return for this England should give Gibraltar back to Spain. The captain general lost his position for making this speech as an official. This was Primo de Rivera's first political speech.

When Primo de Rivera became dictator in 1923, no one remembered the action of the former captain general at Cadiz. Spain always has had a secret desire to get Gibraltar back and it is expected the tunnel project will be an excuse to reopen the subject. It is obvious that if the premier made an arrangement to get Gibraltar back it would be an achievement that Spain never would forget.

A retrenchment program has been announced for Spain, and it is doubted that it would spend money on the tunnel for years. It is not expected that England would part with Gibraltar, but if the tunnel leads to the reopening of negotiations by which Spain would regain possession on the basis of a lease for 100 or 500 years, possibly with a renewal option, there would be great rejoicing at Madrid.

Commander Byrd Defended

British Explorers Cannot Understand Reported Charges Of Norwegian Airman

Major Gran was quoted in the Danish press as saying that the terrible mountains which Commander Byrd described were a fantasy.

British explorers came to the defence of Commander Richard E. Byrd, against the reported charges of Major Tryggve Gran, Norwegian airman and explorer who was a member of the Scott Antarctic expedition.

Copenhagen despatch to the Daily Mail, as saying that the terrible mountains which Commander Byrd described were a fantasy.

"It is all the more extraordinary because Gran is one of Scott's men," said Capt. England. "It would be nothing short of a miracle if Scott men did not see mountains near the South Pole. On the east there is the Queen Alexandra range, 15,000 feet in height, and on the west the Queen Maud range which is about the same height. These mountains have been actually surveyed and measured."

Captain William Olbeck, who was a member of the Southern Cross Expedition of 1898-99 said: "It is well known there are mountains near the South Pole. Commander Byrd would probably see them from 100 miles away because of his height in his aeroplane. His was a magnificent flight."

Grows Championship Wheat In a District Supposed To Be Unsuitable For Farming

To win the world's championship for hard spring wheat is no small achievement in these days of world champion growers, but to grow wheat in a district that was supposed to be unsuitable for wheat growing, a district that people years ago left as impossible is a feat that has not been duplicated since world championships for wheat were first established. Yet such is the experience of J. H. B. Smith, a farmer living at Wolf Creek, east of Edson, on the main line of the Canadian National Railway.

The experience of Mr. Smith is in many respects similar to that of other men who have brought this coveted honor to western Canada. Coming from Leicester, England, in 1907, he engaged in several pursuits before he took up a homestead in the Wolf Creek district, in 1913, when the country was just opening up. While farming was not his profession, he soon began to show signs of a successful exhibitor. The following year he took three first prizes at the Edson Agricultural fair for wheat, oats and potatoes. In 1915 he sent his first exhibit to Edmonton and won second place for oats, but it was not until 1920, that he began to tackle the world show at Chicago, when with his first attempt he took 15th place for Marquis wheat and he has shown every year since 1920, with the exception of one year when his crop was hailed out.

Besides the exhibits he has been sending to Chicago he has been found among the list of successful exhibitors at Canadian fairs for years, and has been gradually climbing up to one of the most consistent growers in the province. Some years ago Mr. Smith began to lose faith in Marquis wheat, and in spite of opposition he planted his faith in the new Reward wheat, which he claimed would eventually bring the championship to him. He has stuck fast to this faith, tended his plots, with painstaking care, and to a year his labors were rewarded with such a fine sample that for the first time he felt satisfied to send it to Chicago, declaring as he did so, that the wheat that would beat it had not been grown.

Crossing Fence Posts

Fence Posts Of Poplar Property Treated, Last For Years

At the Dominion forest nursery, maintained by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, at Indian Head, Saskatchewan, fence posts of poplar, crosscut, have lasted from 1917 to the present, and are still sound. Untreated posts, on the other hand, have rotted out in two or three years. Efforts are now being made to devise an apparatus for treating posts which will enable any farmer to set up a simple home treating plant at small expense.

Earthquake Along Eastern Coast On November 18 Causes Submarine Uplift

That the bed of the North Atlantic was shifted as a result of the earthquake of November 18, was indicated at Halifax in reports from cable ships assigned to the task of repairing the submerged breaks. Soundings showed that the floor of the ocean had been moved and that fishing banks had shifted as a result of the disturbance. Breaks in the cables connecting the old world with the new have been plotted over an area 400 miles southeast and 300 miles northeast of Halifax. In some cases several breaks occurred in the same cable over a distance of 100 miles.

Sunflower Silage Good For Young Sheep

Proves Better Food Than Mixture Of Oats, Peas and Vetches

Silage from sunflowers proved a better succulent food than silage made from a mixture of oats, peas and vetches, for the wintering of young sheep at the Northern Ontario Experimental Station. For six years feeding tests were carried on during the winter months with lambs born the previous spring. The ration of other foods was exactly the same for thirty-day periods each year. During the first five years of the test the ration given to each lamb consisted of silage, one pound clover, hay, two pounds, and grain one-half pound per day. In 1928, however, the amount of silage fed was determined by the percentage of dry matter which it contained. The oats, peas and vetches silage, having been found to contain less moisture, was afterwards fed at the rate of a pound per day, while the sunflower silage was fed at the rate of one and one-half pounds per day for each lamb. The grain mixture used was composed of whole oats three parts, bran one part by weight, plus five per cent of oil cake. The average daily gain made over the thirty-day period amounted to 23 of a pound by those fed on sunflower silage, and 18 of a pound made by those receiving the oats, peas and vetches silage. The feed cost to produce one hundred pounds of gain also showed the sunflower silage to be the better feed, as the cost per one hundred pounds of gain was $11.44 for the sunflower feed lot, and $13.08 for the others. The experiment is described and the results given in the report of the superintendent of the experimental station at Kapuskasing, Ontario, published by the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa.

Wholesale movement of the cleverest and most enterprising of Canada's sons to the United States, attracted by the glamor of riches in the larger American cities has dropped considerably.

Correspondingly the influx of Americans into Canada has increased, and leaders of both countries are considering the significance of the change.

Wesley Frost, United States consul-general, at Montreal, states in commenting on the change:

"Canadian emigration has slowed down of its own accord, and the tide appears definitely to have turned. Our consular records confirm this, since a large share of Europeans in Canada on our visa waiting lists, are now declining the opportunity to cross the American border, when their turns are reached.

"Canada's development will certainly now for a time be more rapid than that of the United States and the balance of migration will in all probability swing strongly into Canada's favor and remain so for at least two or three decades. We cannot honorably lament this change, for we owe Canada more than we can ever pay in the way of high grade man power.

"Moreover, those of our countrymen who become whole-souled Canadians, as many of them do, will enhance mutual comprehension between the two people."

New Human Disease Caught From Rabbit

Wear Rubber Gloves When Dressing Wild Rabbit, Doctors Say

Never eat a rabbit that you can kill with a club, for it's probably sick, advises Dr. C. C. Ruhland, Commissioner of Health, in a statement issued at Syracuse, N.Y. recently. And Tularemia, the disease that slows down the rabbit, can kill the hunter, for according to American statistics, out of 420 cases, 17 have ended fatally. Thus the mortality is about 4 per cent.

Generally the infection comes from dressing the animal, the germ entering the human hand through an abrasion, at the point of which an ulcer is raised. The onset of the disease is sudden, often occurring while the patient is at work, and is characterized by headache, muscular chill, excessive perspiration, body pains, prostration and fever. The latter symptom is always present and continues for two or three weeks.

Tularemia, so named because it was discovered in a ground squirrel in Tulare County, California, is caused by a germ, Bacterium Tularensis. Cases of the disease among humans have been found in all parts of the States, excepting New England. Rabbit meat thoroughly cooked, however, is harmless since a temperature of 133 degrees Fahrenheit kills the Tularemia germs.

To Cut Air Mail Schedule

Feasibility Of Pick-Up Device Proved By Tests

An air mail pick-up device, capable of receiving and discharging mail sacks while an airplane is in full flight, may cut existing air mail schedules fifteen minutes to an hour, according to the American Air Transport Association, which says that tests of the device already made, promise its future adoption on many of the country's twenty-four air mail routes.

The tests being made at Youngstown, O., have proved the feasibility of catching a small bag of mail as it swings on the end of a 75 foot cable attached to a plane in full flight. The device consist of a V-shaped trap, built in the ground. As the mail bag from the plane is caught in the trap, the device automatically attaches another bag, which is hauled up into the 'plane. Similar tests are being carried out in the receiving and discharging of mail at sea, on the S.S. Leviathan.

The theory which postal officials, air mail operators and the inventor are working on, is that an air mail 'plane can leave an airport, swoop down on the pick-up device, haul the mail to a similar device near the post office in the city at the other end of the line, and then go on to that city's airport.

Canada's Forest Areas

The total forest area of Canada, including the 82,260 square miles of forest on agricultural land, is estimated to be 1,151,454 square miles, and of this about 1,100,000 square miles is essentially forest land which can be utilized to the best advantage under forest.

A Record For Safety

Big Eastern Concern Operates Plant For Two Consecutive Years Without Lost-Time Accident

The great campaign for the prevention of accidents and the safeguarding of human life that is being carried on by energetic organizations and the press of the country has many tangible results that are decidedly encouraging to the sponsors of the safety movement.

Last week one of the large industrial concerns of Canada celebrated a full year of freedom from lost-time accidents, by giving a banquet to their more than 400 employees. This company, the Canadian National Carbon Company, Limited, whose head office and plant is located in Toronto, has devoted a great deal of time to educating their employees to the importance of working safely, and the Safety Committee is constantly devising guards for the machines, re-arranging time-tables of working hours and directing the process of manufacture so that each employee can work to the limit of his or her ability with the knowledge that they are safe from accidents that might cause loss of time and injury and reduce their earning capacity.

To make safety more impressive, the Union Carbide & Carbon Corporation presents its plant which operates for a full year without a lost-time accident a handsome bronze shield. For each succeeding year that the record is maintained a bronze bar is added to the shield. It was to celebrate the second year in which this Canadian plant operated without a lost-time accident and earned the bronze bar that the Company gave their employees the banquet in the handsome, completely equipped cafeteria, which is a part of the plant.

Besides the hundreds of employees who attended the banquet, a number of distinguished guests were present and addressed the gathering. These included Mr. R. B. Morley, general manager, Ontario Industrial Accident Prevention Association; Mr. P. Moran, head of Industrial Service Department, National Carbon Industries, Niagara Falls, N.Y.; Mr. James Moran, general manager, Dominion Oxygen Company, Limited, Toronto; Mr. W. H. Winans, head of Industrial-Relations Department, Union Carbide & Carbon Corporation, New York; Mr. H. E. Pollock, assistant general sales manager, Canadian National Carbon Company, Limited, Toronto; Mr. W. B. Fritz, assistant works manager, National Carbon Co., Limited, Cleveland, Ohio.

The gathering was entertained by the Eveready Dance Band, which is heard regularly through the Company's own broadcasting station, CKNC, Toronto.

Telephones To Ship At Sea

Cna Communicate By Phone With Lines a Thousand Miles From Shore

Communication by telephone from the mainland with ships at sea became a permanent, commercial project with the inauguration of service between New York and the lines Leviathan, 200 miles off shore, bound for Europe.

President Walter Gifford, of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, formally opened the service by "tapping up" Captain Cunningham of the Leviathan.

The first actual commercial message to be delivered to the Leviathan by telephone came from Atlantic City, where, in his hotel room, William H. Rankin, advertising man, chatted for five minutes with Sir Thomas Lipton, a passenger. Rankin is the first man to pay money for such a privilege.

The service was perfect, Rankin said. The noted yachtman informed the advertising man that he will return to America next June, hoping to win America's Cup with the Shamrock V.

Telephone Company officials said communication with ocean liners will remain good until the vessel is beyond 1,000 miles from shore. The flat rate for a three-minute conversation between New York and the Leviathan is $21, with an additional $7 for each additional minute.

X-Ray Can Be Measured

To Determine Combined Effect Of Quantity and Quality

"X-rays may be measured as accurately as the pharmacist measures drugs in the drug store," said Dr. A. Mutchler, of New York, in a paper before the convention of the radiological society of North America, held recently in Toronto. "In modern medicine the greatest forward step was made when methods became known to weigh accurately a given drug and then mix when its physiological strength could be determined. The importance of these two determinations arises out of the fact that of drugs not only the quantity must be known, but also their power of effectiveness. The same holds true with regard to X-rays, for the measure of their effect depends neither up on their quantity or quality alone but on the combined measure of both."

THE CHILD IN A CHRISTIAN WORLD

Golden Text: "Suffer the little children, and forbid them not, to come unto Me; for to such becometh the kingdom of heaven."—Matthew 18:14. Lesson: Matthew 18:1-6; Mark 9:36, 37, 42; 10:13-16; Luke 2:1-20. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 11:1-9.

Explanations and Comments

The Birth Of Jesus At Jerusalem, verses 1-7.—Mary and Joseph left their home in Nazareth and went to Bethlehem, which had been the home of their ancestor David, in order to be enrolled in "their own city," as Caesar Augustus had decreed. It is eighty miles from Nazareth, in Galilee, to Bethlehem, in Judea, and the journey must have taken them several days. There in Bethlehem Jesus was born, and Mary laid Him in a manger, because there was no room in the inn.

The Shepherds and the Angels, verses 8-14.—In this beautiful story we are told that as the shepherds were watching their flocks by night in the field, an angel suddenly stood before them, and began to glory of the birth of the Son of God, and they were sore afraid. The angel bade them not to be afraid, for he was bringing them good tidings of great joy which shall be to all people. And this was the word of the Lord: "There is born to you this day in the city of David, a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord." He does not simply say, "Christ is born, but to you He is born." Luther points out: "neither does he say I bring glad tidings but, To you I bring glad tidings of great joy. Furthermore, this joy was not to remain in them, but it

"There is much we do not know about the angels. But two very wonderful things we do know. One is that they represented some of the glory of heaven made visible. The other thing is that they represented the message of heaven made articulate. The unseen found its way to the human eye. The unheard found its way to the human ear. And we know enough to be quite sure that in a very real sense heaven is all the while trying to become visible to mortal eyes and audible to human ears. We may think of the angels as representing the witness of heaven bending eagerly over an earth which is strangely and mystically slow to understand."

The Shepherds and the Babe, verses 15-20.—When the angels departed the amazed shepherds said to one another, "Let us go to Bethlehem and see what the Lord has made known to us." They were astonished at the message that had come to them, but they were not incredulous. They went in haste, and found the holy family. To Mary and Joseph they told what they had heard concerning the Babe. All marvelled, and Mary retained the words in her heart, pondering them over and over.

The shepherds returned to their humble task of keeping their flock, a outburst of praise upon their lips. "Glory to God in the highest, And on earth peace among men in whom He is well pleased."

Contesting Canada's Claim

Must Occupy Arctic Before Ownership Is Proved, Says Norwegian Premier

Canada's position with regard to ownership to the Arctic archipelago is unaltered from the claim reiterated in June, 1923, by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, it was made known in Government circles at Ottawa. News despatches from London had intimated that Premier Mowinkel, of Norway, contested the right of this country to mark out sectors of the Arctic as possessions in which Canada's interests were paramount. The Norwegian premier asserted in a speech at Bergen that Norway adhered to the view that territory could be claimed only when it had actually been occupied, and that since Canada had not occupied all the Arctic, this country's interests in unoccupied territory could not be admitted.

That the opinions of Premier Mowinkel, in a speech at Bergen, in the effect of the right which Canada claims to the Arctic islands north of the Canadian mainland, between longitude 60 and longitude 141, was flatly asserted by Government officials. Several attempts had been made in the past to disprove Canada's ownership of that archipelago, but recognition was now general, and Norway appeared to be the only nation that was still contesting it.

Was Out Of Place

Use Of Old Formula Upset Decorum Of British House

The decorum of the British House of Commons was upset the other day by a members use of time-honored formula which proved, in this instance, quite out of place under modern conditions. Miss Margaret Bondfield, Minister of Labor, gave an answer which did not satisfy Sir Frederick Hall, Conservative.

"May I press the Right Honorable Lady," began Sir Frederick, when he was interrupted by uproarious shouts of "No!" Sir Frederick apologized and reframed his query.

Canada's Highways Important

The highways in Canada are becoming increasingly important year by year in the economic structure of the country. Over them is carried a very heavy traffic, both passenger and freight, especially between the large cities and towns. At the end of 1928 the total mileage of surfaced roads in Canada was 64,821.

WINDOLITE

MADE IN ENGLAND

The Improved Glass Substitute

COMES WITH A MESSAGE OF HEALTH

THE sun is the all-powerful life producer. Nature's universal disinfectant and germ destroyer, as well as stimulant and tonic. WINDOLITE is the sun's most important ally.

Medical research has definitely proved that from the point of view of Health and Hygiene, the most effective among the sun's rays are the Ultra-Violet rays, which possess the greatest power for the prevention and cure of disease and debility.

Science has further established that ordinary window glass does not allow the passage of Ultra-Violet rays, so that by using glass we are artificially excluding these vital health-giving rays. Therefore, the invention of WINDOLITE has completely satisfied the long-felt want. Exhaustive experiments have conclusively proved that it is a most effective substitute for glass, that it freely admits the Ultra-Violet rays, and that its use has a most beneficial effect on the growth and development of plants and chickens and on the well-being of cattle, enabled for the first time to have healthy light instead of darkness in their sheds.

Indeed, the discovery of WINDOLITE has during the last six years completely revolutionized gardening, given a new stimulus to poultry breeding, increased the egg-laying capacity and fertility of chickens, has greatly improved the health of cattle and is now being used in domestic and household requirements.

WINDOLITE stands for 100 per cent. sunlight. It makes light let along windows, conservatories, poultry houses, brooders and all out buildings. It is economical, unbreakable, flexible and is easy to cut and fit. It is now being successfully used for sunrooms, verandas, schools, factories, hospitals, sanitariums, hot beds, plant coverings and greenhouses. It keeps out cold—will not crack or chip—cuts wind and rain. The name is easy to fit. WINDOLITE is supplied in rolls any length but in one width of 36 inches only. A square yard of WINDOLITE weighs about 34 lbs. while a square yard of glass of ordinary thickness, weighs about 135 to 130 lbs. The improved WINDOLITE requires no varnish. WINDOLITE is made in England.

AUBURN PRISON RIOT QUELLED BY STATE TROOPS

Auburn, N.Y.—A beaten, sullen group of convicts saw the law march from its grasp control of Auburn prison, gained during the day at the cost of eight prisoners' lives and the death of the principal keeper.

The second attempt within five months of a chosen group of desperate men to gain their freedom in a prison break collapsed under the gunfire of three hundred besiegers. Holding absolute control of the prison at the outbreak of the trouble, with Warden Edgar S. Jennings and seven guards in their hands as hostages, the convicts watched their plans go awry until night fall found their ring-leaders dead and the survivors in their cells awaiting the search of state police.

The prison's principal keeper, George A. Durnford, died in an attempt to fight off the attackers at the inception of the riot.

The collapse of the convicts' plans began when State troops whisked from their hands, under cover of a gas attack, the warden and guards and ended when a concerted drive of the besiegers hurled them from the main gate into a remote corner of the south cell block.

The first word of trouble reached Warden Jennings at 10 a.m. He left his office, went to the prison kitchen to check the report and was seized as he started back to the office.

Prodded along by a revolver in the hands of one of the three convicts, the warden approached three unassuming guards who were disarmed and forced to open the doors of the punishment cells. In a similar manner, other guards were captured.

Principal keeper Durnford appeared on the scene and the convicts attempted to capture him also. Falling in this, three of the mutineers shot him and left him lying outside the back hallway into which they shoved their prisoners. Durnford dragged himself out of reach and was helped by an unidentified convict. He reached the prison hospital but died a few minutes later.

Using Tractors On Desert

French and Chinese Scientists Conducting Expedition Without Camels

Peiping.—Gasoline driven tractors are to replace camels on a desert expedition being organized by French and Chinese scientists to cover unexplored parts of North China and Indo-China next year. The purpose of the trip is to carry on scientific research and is to be conducted jointly by the National Scientific Union of China and the Citroën Motor Car Company of France.

The Chinese expedition is to start from Peiping in February and plan to meet up with the French explorers, now in Persia, after the tractor brigade has crossed Russian Turkistan.

Protest From Britishers

Resent German Practice Of "Dumping" Cereals Into Old Land

London, England.—The British foreign office should make representations to Germany indicating unfairness of the German practice of "dumping" cereals into Great Britain, urged the agricultural committee of the conservative parliamentary party, meeting in the parliament buildings to consider the importations of cereals from Germany under the bounty system. The importation in large quantities was a breach of the spirit, if not of the letter, of the mutual obligations which had been entered into, the committee added.

Fort Chipewyan Gets Mail

Edmonton.—December 11 was mail day at Fort Chipewyan far up in the northeast corner of Alberta. Two planes of Commercial Airways, Ltd., made the 160 mile jump from Fort McMurray to Chipewyan on Lake Athabasca. They carried the first consignment, half a ton of air mail, under the Dominion plan which will bear letters to within the Arctic circle.

Three Fighting For Earldom Of Egmont

Legal Battle To Prove Claim Opens In London

London, Eng.—A cowboy, a baker, and an optician opened their legal battle here to prove their conflicting claims to the Earldom of Egmont.

The cowboy is Frederick Joseph Trevelyan Percival, 66, of 28 years a rancher in Alberta, Canada. The baker is James William Percival, 65, a resident of London, and the father of six children.

The optician is Robert Pownall, an old-age pensioner of Haydock, Lancashire.

Whoever wins the three-cornered fight will become Earl of Egmont. Baron Percival, Baron Arden and Baron Lovell and Holland. The value of the estates to which he will succeed is estimated at from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

The rival claimants to the Egmont title and fortune have searched the family records back to 1733, when the title was granted. In their attempt to fill several blank spaces in the Percival genealogical table and thus substantiate their individual claims they have carried their investigations as far as Australia.

Three Perish In Arctic

Word Was Brought Out By Major L. T. Burwash

Ottawa, Ont.—News of the death of three natives of Scotland occurring in the Canadian Arctic was brought out by Major L. T. Burwash, of the Northwest Territories branch of the Department of the Interior, who arrived in Ottawa at the end of an 18-month trip, which took him along the northern coast of Canada from Akkavik to Boothia Peninsula.

Harold Lucas, of the Hudson's Bay Company, was swallowed up by a raging blizzard seven miles out of Glen Haven, Ian McKay Christie, also of the Hudson's Bay Company, died at Bathurst Post under similar circumstances after Lewis T. ("Slim") Rader, engineer of the Ptarmigan, Major Burwash's boat, had half carried and half dragged him across the frozen wastes for 30 hours. Another man, recruited by the Hudson's Bay Company, from Scotland, died on Coronation Gulf after he had broken through newly formed ice, over which he was walking. The freezing water gradually exhausted him.

Plan Additional Ships For Canadian Trade

Government Has Taken Matter Under Consideration

Ottawa.—The Canadian government has under consideration the establishment of several additional steamship services for the promotion of Canadian trade abroad. Hon. James Malcolm, Minister of Trade and Commerce, announced. This was an outcome of the success which followed the inauguration of the new government subsidized steamship freight service between British Columbia ports and Australia. Tenders have been called for services from eastern Canadian ports to India, Ceylon and East Africa.

Russian Youth, Follower Of Late War, Becomes Canadian Citizen

Barrie, Ont.—An 11-year-old Polish lad, starved, clad in filthy rags and broken by overwork, found his way to an encampment of Canadian soldiers at Sopok, Siberia, at the time of the Russian revolution, 12 years ago. Grown to manhood, John Petroskey applied yesterday to Judge Wismer for naturalization papers and he adopted the name of George Harvey, the name of the Canadian soldier who had proved his principal friend in the old days and who had seen him established in Canada. George Harvey, the first, was in court to corroborate Petroskey's strange story.

Opposing U.S. Entry Into World Court

New Arrangement Does Not Satisfy Group In Senate

Washington, D.C.—Opposition to the new plan for United States entry into the World Court, as determined as that which met the original proposal for the adherence of the Washington Government, is developing in the senate.

The group of senators that three years ago voted against the United States becoming allied with the international tribunal, even under the reservations then attached, is apparently as much dissatisfied with the new arrangement as it was with the old.

How much of a factor in the senate's final vote this opposition will be, of course, remains to be determined, but notice has been given by the group, that the modification of the court's rules of procedure, affected in an effort to facilitate United States entry, is unacceptable.

The four will study Australian and New Zealand requirements, will address various organizations, interview business and government heads and make extensive investigations.

In order to ensure a full ladder for the coming festive season the Royal York Hotel entered the list of buyers at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, and secured the special carload lot of champion steers which created a great sensation among cattle experts throughout the fair. Are Close To Agreement

Alberta Hopes To Reach Settlement On Resources Question

Ottawa.—The Province of Alberta and the Dominion Government are close to an agreement as to the conditions for the return of the natural resources to the province, Premier J. E. Brownlee and colleagues put forward recently, and Premier Brownlee is remaining over, in Ottawa, to have further conference with Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Some time ago the Dominion government announced that on the basis of the finding of the commission which investigated the return of the natural resources to Manitoba, it was prepared to make a corresponding offer to the Province of Alberta. At the time it was explained that this meant that Alberta would get back its natural resources and the subsidy to that province from the Federal Government would be continued and increased as the population of the province increased.

The negotiations are not so simple as would appear on the surface, however, because Alberta finds herself in a very different position from what Manitoba was. One difference is that in Alberta there are immense national parks, comprising some five million acres, said to be as much as all the other national parks of Canada put together. These parks include some valuable coal deposits. This requires special consideration.

Japan Would Keep Subs

But Is Willing To Co-Operate In Arms Reduction Work

Victoria, B.C.—Reijiro Wakatsuki and Admiral Takarabe, heading the Japanese delegation to the forthcoming London disarmament conference, asserted that their country would go as far toward reducing its naval force as any other power.

The party are on their way to Washington before proceeding to London for the conference, which starts next month.

The former premier said his country desired to keep submarines as a naval weapon.

Orders For Douglas Fir

London, England.—Orders for 200,000 railway sleepers of Canadian Douglas fir have been placed by the Great Western Railway Company. They will be used mainly in connection with the extension work approved by the government under the Development Act of 1929, aiding the unemployment situation.

Another Grain Appeal Board

Brandon, Man.—Fort William will soon have a grain appeal board, such as are established at Calgary and Edmonton, states Dr. D. A. MacGibbon, member of the Board of Grain Commissioners. Such a board, to settle disputes over quality of grain, will shortly be established at the head of the lakes, he said.

LABOR PARTY IN BRITAIN FACING POSSIBLE DEFEAT

London, England.—Britain's Labor Government will be challenged in the House of Commons before Christmas on its unemployment policy, and as it is in the minority by 39, there is a real possibility of defeat on the question of the major policy.

Details of the schemes so far produced by Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, have failed to give any satisfaction to the Opposition parties, and the huge figure of unemployed—1,302,900, despite opportunities of reasonable employment before December 25—is contrasted with Mr. Thomas' plans which visualize a year's work for only 189,300.

In this connection Premier Ramsay MacDonald has agreed to having the question of the Lord Privy Seal's salary debated in the Commons before Christmas, and this occasion will enable the employment problem to be reviewed by all parties.

The Conservative and Liberal newspapers stress the inadequacy of Mr. Thomas' plans, although they sympathize with the tremendous task confronting him. The Conservatives are making the most of the opportunity to show that Labor cannot fulfill its election pledges, and the Liberals to demonstrate that Lloyd George's schemes as the only possible hope of solving the pressing problem of what to do with the hundreds of thousands without work.

Meanwhile pertinacious and persistent Empire crusaders are enrolling members of the public to pledge themselves to support the Empire as the only way to overcome the present economic difficulties and distress.

Says All Are Insane

Dividing Line Between Sanity and Insanity Difficult To Detect

Windsor, Ont.—"Everybody is insane, according to Dr. C. R. Cruickshanks, government inspector in insanity for the past 20 years, in a statement made here recently in an explanation of the remark he made in Supreme Court at Sandwich, before Mr. Justice J. M. McKeown, that over 1,000 insane people walked the streets of Windsor. "There is no line of demarcation between sanity and insanity," said Dr. Cruickshanks. "Some people are insane in the opinion of others, and yet might be regarded by the vast majority as being in full possession of their senses. It is often a matter to be decided by judges rather than doctors. There is no real distinction between the two classes. Some of our most valuable citizens are 'crazy' and yet their work in life is very useful."

The doctor continued, however: "Some people, of course, had to have institutional care. We have to draw a line where we think that they will be benefited by such treatment."

Goodwin Returns East

Last Member Of MacAlpine Party Leaves For Home In Hamilton

The Pas, Man.—Don Goodwin, the last member of the lost and found MacAlpine party to remain in the north, has left for his home in Hamilton, Ont., accompanied by Dr. Donald Bruce, of The Pas, who has attended him ever since rescuers took charge of the party at Cambridge Bay.

Goodwin, suffering from frozen feet when he arrived here, had three toes amputated and has been resting since the operation.

No Agreement Reached

Return Of Natural Resources To Alberta Still Undecided

Ottawa.—No agreement was reached at the conference between Premier Mackenzie King and members of the Dominion cabinet with Premier J. E. Brownlee, premier of Alberta, on the return of the natural resources to Alberta. At the conclusion of the conference which lasted for two hours, Premier Brownlee said that the representations of Alberta had been made but would be put in writing and sent to the Dominion Government.

Glasgow, Scotland, now claims a population of 1,065,000.

Escaping Winter at Victoria

Early in the new year, and following an eight-day Yuletide Festival at the Empress Hotel, the same festivity will be the scene under Canadian Pacific Railway auspices of a Sea Music Festival, January 15-18, at which British and Canadian sea chanteys will be featured. Among the more outstanding will be the ballad operas, "The Order of Good Cheer," incorporating old French sea songs of the period of Champlain; "Bound for the Rio Grande," an opera filled with many favorite sea chanteys; and a fisherfolk play written by Ethel Basin, "At A Lews Fishing." Fine voices, first-class choirs, some of them from the United States, others native, and excellent instrumental effects will all be in evidence under the musical direction of Harold Eustace Key. Lay-out shows scenes from "Bound for the Rio Grande," "Fishwives Dancing," and "The Order of Good Cheer." Following the sea music festival, there will be staged in February the Victoria mid-winter golf tournament at Colwood Park with a silver trophy presented by E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Railway, which was first held with such success last year and attracted a fine entry list. Victoria, where grass is green and flowers bloom the year round, will thus again prove its fit to be considered the Riviera of Canada with a mild climate making it a pleasant rest resort in winter.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, is loved by Grace Farrell, the cigarette girl, but he doesn't know it. He marries Molly Winton, a girl of no talent, and wins fame as a composer of popular songs. When his baby, Junior, is about two years old, Molly dies. She and Perry take the child Al adores and sail for France. Al, broken by the loss, becomes a derelict. Months later he drifts into Blackie's place at night, where Grace Farrell, who still loves him, shames him into the promise to stage a come-back. They leave the club together shortly after dawn, but as they reach the street Al staggers.

CHAPTER XXVI.

"What's the matter?" Grace asked anxiously.
"It's just the effect of coming suddenly into the sunlight after all that has happened—back there. I'm not quite sure of myself and my directions. And I look so terrible downy and-out in this bright daylight."
It was true, Al's appearance was painfully seedy, but Grace dismissed that.
"We'll soon fix everything," she said confidently. "And Al—?"
"Yes."

"If I'm to help you, you must give me your full confidence—tell where you're living and promise not to run away again."

"I will, Grace," Al answered earnestly, in the tone of a child who wants desperately to make a good impression. "I promise."

Grace smiled in spite of her attempt to appear in a stern.

"Well, then, come along."

As they strolled along the sunlit streets, with Grace occasionally sending a happy glance up into Al's face, she could not help but realize how their positions were reversed from the time when she had first known him. Then she had been a frightened child and big, generous Al had protected her from the rowdy customers at Blackie's place. Now she was almost leading that same man as if he were a child, protecting him and encouraging him constantly. Her heart was ready to burst with pride and love.

"Where do you live?" she asked.

"It's over there," said Al, vaguely indicating the East Side. "You know"—he paused irresolutely—"I hate for you to walk over there. It's such a dump. Just a rickety, cheap hotel—almost like a flop house."

"That doesn't matter to me," said Grace quickly, "but if you'd rather go home alone, all right. Only don't think

I care about your clothes or where you live, or anything like that. I just care about you."

There was no mistaking the look in Grace's eyes—Al realized at last that she loved him. Yet he marvelled at it—how could she love a down-and-out, like him? He felt a rapid throb under his disappointed vest, an emotion he had not known for a long time. He wanted to put his arms about her and tell her how much she meant to him, but he held back. This was neither the time nor the place.

"Before you go home," suggested Grace, "walk over to the Square with me. I live near there. We can sit on a bench and talk for a while. It will be good for you."

Al nodded. Presently they emerged from the canyons of streets to the wide, green expanse of Washington Square.

"See how beautiful it is," said Grace. "I thought it would make you feel better. The leaves are turning red and yellow. And see how nice the green buses look passing under the trees. Here, we'll try this bench."

Al sat down and relaxed, his eyes had closed. The autumn sun shone brightly, and the light breeze from between two skyscrapers, spreading fan-shape across the level expanse and lighting the white arch, Italian slum children played on the south side, while in the northern part of the Square the children of the rich toddled about, under the watchful eyes of nurses.

"You say you live near here?" Al asked finally.

"Yes, just around the corner on Waverley Place. I have a room."

"Oh yes." Some hint of Grace's rather bleak and lonely life was borne home to Al in that one sentence—"I have a room." She had a room, but she had no friends of other girls in the metropolis, she had no real home, no family, nothing much but dreams. Yet she lived bravely and without murmuring, thought Al, while he—The sentence remained unspoken.

He rose. "Grace, you're the most wonderful girl in the world. I know it—at last. We'll talk a great deal about that later. But now you must go home and get some sleep. I'll go my way and—I'll see you tonight at Blackie's."

Grace stood before him, eyes glowing. "Thank you, Al," she whispered. She felt her hand seized. Suddenly he leaned over and kissed it.

"Bye-bye, little one, it's I who should do the thanking. . . . You'll see me tonight and, if clothes can make a difference, you'll see a different person. You just won't know Al Stone in his glad garments. And listen—you see that hotel over there—the white one?"

"Yes."

"That will be my address tomorrow. Then we'll be near each other and I can walk home with you every morning to Blackie's place. Tell Blackie I'm coming over to sit out with his show if he'll give me a job."

Al was walking away, with Grace staring after him. He strode along briskly now and when he reached the edge of the Square he turned to wave good-bye to the intent little figure. For a moment Grace waited after he had disappeared, then she turned the other way toward her own home. Passers-by who saw her face knew that one girl had found happiness.

Al had over-estimated his strength in keeping up that rapid pace. He maintained it until he reached his hotel bedroom, then he sat down on the side of the bed, verging on physical collapse. The room's dinginess and the feeling commonality of the life he had been leading, brought a sudden wave of depression. But he fought it off, rose and began packing up and down.

"It won't be liked," he told himself sharply. "Throw that little girl down after she's done for me—never!"

He quickly opened a bureau drawer, took out an old sock and drew forth a roll of bills. The bills were quickly stuffed into his coat pocket, then he ran from the room as if escaping from a scene of pestilence.

An hour later he entered a men's haberdashery. He was shaved and his hair was trimmed. A clerk looked at him suspiciously, but finally deigned to approach.

"I want some clothes. Shirts, ties, socks, shoes, suits—the whole thing."

"Yes?" The clerk's nose rose a trifle higher.

"It's all right," said Al, and added simply, "I have the money." When he drew out his roll of bills the clerk's eyes bulged.

"I want the best you've got—and suppose we start on a blue serge suit."

I always liked blue serge. Then I want some tweeds and some evening clothes."

The clerk saw a big commission ahead and stepped lively to supply Al's wants. But he couldn't help wondering if this bun had stolen the money or if some rich relative had suddenly died and left him a fortune. As they went from counter to counter Al's sense of shame at his run-down appearance left him; he even began to take a keen delight in the wonder he excited among the clerks and the other customers.

Grace had gone home to sleep as Al suggested. It was sleep broken by rosy dreams, during which she seemed to be floating gently under a clear blue sky. When she awoke it was afternoon. Soon she was lorrying toward Blackie's club.

Now it was well on toward midnight and Al had not appeared. Grace kept her accounts and checked the waiters as they passed by her. Was Al going to fall her; would he prove too weak to make the comeback, after all her efforts? She drove the thought resolutely from her.

WHEN YOUR BABY CATCHES A COLD

In spite of all precautions little ones will take colds—especially during the changeable days of our Fall season. When the first symptoms appear—sneezing, redness of the eyes, running nose—You'll see me tonight and, if clothes can make a difference, you'll see a different person. You just won't know Al Stone in his glad garments. And listen—you see that hotel over there—the white one?"

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the home always feel safe. In fact they like having a doctor in the house. They are a gentle but thorough laxative that sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels, thus driving out constipation and indigestion and relieving the baby of the many childhood ailments which are the direct result of a clogged condition of the bowels or sour stomach. They are absolutely safe—being guaranteed to contain no drug at all harmful to even the youngest babe. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good.

Health Agencies Plan Co-operation

Canadian Associations With $2,000,000 Annual Budget Meet In Ottawa

Very quietly, and without benefit of publicity, agencies that expend annually $2,000,000 in promotion of Canadian health, met in Ottawa the other day, to discuss ways and means of co-ordinating their efforts and eliminating overlapping.

So successful was this effort to bring into the field of national health, a same spirit of co-operation that is making giant business mergers one of the signs of the times, that the fourteen agencies participating are considering adopting a set, annual date for regularly pooling their wisdom and mutually arranging their programmes.

The meeting was called by Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Pensions and National Health, and presided over by Dr. J. A. Amyot. A list of the organizations represented, follows:

Red Cross, Canadian Tuberculosis Association, Canadian Social Hygiene Council, Canadian Council on Child and Family Welfare, St. John's Ambulance Association, Canadian Dental Hygiene Council, Canadian Nurses Association, Canadian Medical Association, National Council of Women, Canadian Public Health Association, Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, Federation of Women's Institutes, Federation of French-Canadian Women and Victorian Order of Nurses.

One Woman In Eight Dies From Cancer

While Male Mortality One in 11, Says Canadian Radiologist

Out of every eight Canadian and American women, one dies of cancer, according to Dr. Gordon E. Richards, Toronto, chairman of the convention of the Radiological Society of North America, held in Toronto, recently. Dr. Richards is director of the Department of Radiology in the University of Toronto.

Conditions, however, are steadily improving.

Even within the past five years, improvements in methods of treatment have increased the number of cures of cancer in women very greatly," he said, "and cures of throat and mouth cancer have increased by twenty-five per cent during that period."

Dr. Joseph Cull Bloodgood, of Johns Hopkins University, and one of the most renowned cancer specialists in the world—who also attended the convention—stated in a recent interview that public education is, today, the greatest weapon in the fight against this disease.

Why He Honked

A young road-hog known for his determination never to be overtaken was going at great speed one day when he heard an insistent "honking" behind him.

He turned and saw, just on his hind wheels, a baby car driven by a wild-looking individual.

Back he turned to his wheel, down went the accelerator pedal, and up rushed the speed indicator.

Seventy-eight miles an hour were touched, but still the honking continued.

At last worn out, the speed mania slowed down and drew to the side of the road.

"Come on, then, if you must pass," he cried.

"The sorry," said the driver of the baby car, "but I'm hooked on."

Little Helps For This Week

"Let us walk by the same rule," let us mind the same thing."—Eph. iii, 16.

Life hath a load, and safely may. Yet keep those cares without thee; let the heart Be God's alone, and choose the better part. Through all thy actions, counsels, and discourses, Let mildness and religion guide thee out; If truth be thine, what needs a brutish force? But what's not good and just ne'er go about.

—Henry Vaughan.

Elizabeth Fry drew up for her own guidance the following rules:

1. Never lose any time. I do not think that lost which is spent in amusement or recreation every day; but always be in the act of being employed.
2. Never err the least in truth.
3. Never say an ill thing of a person when thou canst say a good thing of him; not only speak charitably but feel so.
4. Never be irritable or unkind to anybody.
5. Never indulge thyself in luxuries that are not necessary.
6. Do all things with consideration; and when thy path to act right is difficult, put confidence in that Power alone which is able to assist thee, and exert thy own powers as far as they go.

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when so simple a remedy as Holloway's Corn Remover is available.

Railway Speed Record

The speed record for transcontinental rail travel is held by the Canadian National Railway, one of the system's oil-electric locomotives having crossed from Montreal to Vancouver, 2,944 miles, in 67 hours.

"I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is wonderful! I have had six children of which four are living and my youngest is a bonnie baby boy now eight months old who weighs 23 pounds. I have taken your medicine before each of them was born and have certainly received great benefit from it. I urge my friends to take it as I am sure they will receive the same help I did."

Holborn Happenings.

Levine R Larson, of Minneapolis, is visiting at present with his brothers Melker and Reuben, at Holborn.

Owing to the cold weather on Saturday, the representative of the wheat Pool who was billed to give an address at the meeting of Wheat Pool local, was unable to come up from Red Deer. Consequently, the meeting was postponed indefinitely.

The visiting troupe which was to have given the comedy "The Deacon Slips" at the local hall last week, were unavoidably detained.

The dance at Holborn Friday night attracted the usual good crowd, despite the inclement weather. Bartns supplied the music.

Spruce Grove News

The drop in prices in the poultry market has hit local turkey raisers pretty hard. A hope is expressed that the price may improve just before Christmas.

Butcher cattle appear to be remarkably scarce in this district at present, and cattle-raisers are asking more than Stockyard prices.

Grain has been coming to the local elevators in fairly large volume, with the Wheat Pool elevator getting the larger share, the Pool members having earned the extra 2c a bu by storing till after the 21st inst.

Prop. Joe D Miller has rearranged the plan of the hotel premises by moving the dining room to the hall formerly used for pool, and installing the pool tables in the old dining room. Contractor Anderson has made a good job in woodwork in the dining hall, several booths having been installed. Jack Nicholls opened the dining room to the public on Saturday last, and has been well patronised since.

There is a rumor that the Burns Creamery will shortly be placing several first-class bulls in this district, for the benefit of the Creamery's patrons.

The product from McKean's new sausage mill is causing a pleasant surprise among lovers of good wurst. Customers are coming 15 miles to buy it; one man from down south yesterday taking 10 ft. the day's entire output.

Fisher Set Free

The long-drawn out Court case against Ph Fisher came to an end on Tuesday, before Magistrate Williams. Accused had been charged "with doing grievous bodily harm. The evidence of the star witnesses for the prosecution, B Miller and P Baron, appeared to be of a conflicting nature and, in view of this, Magistrate Williams deemed it advisable to give Fisher the benefit of the doubt, and dismissed the case. Mr. Gen J Bryan acted for defendant.

In the same Court, the case against Mr. Cicarel of Edson was tried, the charge being laid under the V. & H. T. Act. This case was the outcome of a collision between two cars at the Grove, one Sunday in October. A number of witnesses were examined, at the conclusion of which the defendant was found guilty and fined $15 and costs. Eardley Jackson of Edmonton defended.

Snow Plows Clear Baseline.

A tryout of the motor snow plows recently purchased by Dept. of Public Works was given Tuesday on the Baseline from Edmonton to Stony. The same plow had already been used to clear the drifts on the Edmonton-Calgary trail. The plows are attached to four wheel drive motor trucks, which throw the snow well to the side of the road. The snow plow trucks are used in summer for hauling gravel. Where the snowdrifts are heavy, caterpillar tractors with less speed and greater power will be used.

Creamery's Extra Payments

The Farmers Meat Market, local agents for Burns Creamery, announces that they are now sending money orders to their patrons, being additional payments on cream shipments for 1929. The management would like to have the Creamery working to capacity and to assist farmers to get more cows and better cows. Burns are going to distribute 4 to 8 high class bulls in this district.

Know Canada Contest

The Family Herald and Weekly Star, so well known as Canada's outstanding farm and home paper, is launching another of their Know Canada Contest, in which $3000.00 are being given as prizes. The First Prize is $1000.00.

Each week four pictures are published and readers are asked to decipher the Canadian post offices they represent. It is a most interesting pastime, combining a great deal of real amusement and entertainment with an opportunity of carrying off a very nice sum of money in prizes.

It is a contest that will interest every one of our readers and details of it can be had for the asking. A letter to the Family Herald & Weekly Star, Montreal, will bring you all the particulars and a sample copy of the paper too and of course it does not obligate you in any way.
